Franklin is a young turtle who loves to explore. One day, he decides to go for a walk in the woods. He follows a path for a while, but then he gets distracted by a butterfly. He follows the butterfly deeper and deeper into the woods, until he realizes that he is lost.

Franklin is scared. He doesn't know how to get back home. He tries to find his way back to the path, but he just gets more and more lost.

Just when Franklin is about to give up hope, he sees a friendly owl. The owl helps Franklin find his way back home. Franklin is so happy to be home safe and sound.

Franklin Is Lost is a heartwarming story about the importance of following directions and staying safe when you are exploring. It is a story that children of all ages can enjoy.

Activities

- Ask children to draw a picture of Franklin and the owl.
- Have children create a map of the woods. They can include the path that Franklin took, the butterfly, and the owl.
- Read the story aloud to children and then ask them questions about the story. For example, what did Franklin do when he got lost? How did the owl help Franklin? What lesson did Franklin learn?
