In the early hours of January 17, 1991, the United States and its allies launched a massive air campaign against Iraq. The goal was to liberate Kuwait, which had been invaded by Iraq the previous August. The air campaign was followed by a ground war that began on February 24, 1991. American and allied forces quickly overwhelmed Iraqi forces and liberated Kuwait City on February 26, 1991.

Gulf War Journal Two Ground War is a firsthand account of the ground war by a soldier who was there. The author, Sergeant Kevin Dougherty, was a member of the 1st Battalion, 66th Armor Regiment, 2nd Armored Division. He fought in some of the most intense battles of the war, including the Battle of 73 Easting and the Battle of Medina Ridge.

Dougherty's journal is a gripping and unforgettable story of war. He writes about the fear, the boredom, the camaraderie, and the violence of combat. He also provides a unique perspective on the war's political and strategic context. Gulf War Journal Two Ground War is a must-read for anyone interested in military history, the Gulf War, or simply good storytelling.
